SCHOOL BOOK BILL

Adopted By The House After Lively Fight.

Hickman Bill Killed In Senate Committee Made Substitute For Wells Bill.

Frankfort Ky., March 1.—The Hickman school book bill has been adopted in the house to-day, being substituted for the Wells bill after a lively discussion.

The bill, as amended by substitute was adopted by a vote of 66 to 20. Representatives Drawry of Louisville, and Klair of Lexington, voted with the Republicans against the bill. Representatives Worthington of Greenup, and Rogers, of Christian, voted with the Democrats for the passage of the bill. The vote was announced at 1:50 o'clock and the house immediately adjourned.

IN THE SENATE.

The whole session was devoted to the consideration of the reports of the majority and minority branches of the state prisons committee on the investigation of the charges made by Senator Kirk, of Johnson, against the state commissioners and officials of the Frankfort prison. The evidence taken by the committee was read in full.

On the taking of a vote on a motion to strike out the minority part of the report from publication of it, the Republicans refused to vote and broke a quorum. The matter was then made a special order for Monday next.

The Byron bill to authorize the governor to appoint a special judge in cases in which the regular judge cannot sit, and the parties fail to agree on a judge was adopted.

The Allen bill for counties owning turnpikes to condemn land for quarries was adopted.

ILL ONLY AN HOUR.

Sudden Death of Samson Vanhooser near Kirkmansville.

Mr. Samson Vanhooser, father of Mr. Henry Vanhooser of this city, died suddenly of heart disease at his home near Kirkmansville last Thursday. He was only ill an hour. He was in the 77 year of his age and was a much respected citizen.

He leaves a widow and five sons, all grown.

SAM JONES MEETING

Will begin Revival in Nashville, March 23.

Rev. Sam Jones will begin a meeting at the Tabernacle in Nashville March 23. The last meeting conducted by Rev. Sam Jones in that city was not what might be termed a great success. It was announced that he would come to raise money for the Tabernacle, consequently many people remained away. This time in collections are to be taken, except for the incidentals.

PREACHER CROWE AGAIN

Falls by the Wayside in Paducah and is Fined.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 28.—Rev. E. P. Crowe, of Mayfield, who was formerly pastor of a church in Owensboro, was fined in the city court here this morning for being drunk on the streets.

AGED 80.

Well Known Citizen of Johnson's Passes Away.

Mr. J. F. Winsett, one of the oldest citizens of northeast Christian, died at his home near Johnson's postoffice Friday.

He was 80 years old and is survived by a widow and two sons.

THROUGH HIS HEART

Went Bullet From Pistol in His Own Hands.

Well Known Ex-Toll-Gate Keeper
Commits Suicide at His Home Near Elmo.

Mr. Lawson Smith, a well known citizen, committed suicide about 11 o'clock last Sunday morning at the home of his mother, at Elmo.

He was alone in his room, and lying across the bed, when he shot himself through the heart. Members of the family heard the report of the revolver and ran into the room at once, but when they reached the bed he was dead.

The supposition is that ill health was the cause of the act, as he had not been well for some time.

Mr. Smith was for a number of years toll-gate keeper on the Hopkinsville and Nashville pike, at Wood's mill, and was a man well liked by the public generally.

About eighteen months ago he was attacked by a burglar and a bloodless duel followed. Shortly thereafter he moved to South Christian, where he had since resided. He was about 50 years old and a bachelor.

BY AN IPSE DIXIT

The Governor Attempts to Remove Asylum Commissioners.

On Thursday Gov. Beckham issued an order "removing" three Democratic Commissioners of the Western Asylum and appointing successors as follows:

M. H. Carroll vice Chas. Knight; John Chilton vice J. B. Walker; Jas. Hill vice R. W. Ware.

The order makes a bitter attack upon the commissioners, the following intemperate language being used:

"Their incompetency and disregard of the duties of their offices make their retention inimical to the best interests of the Asylum. Such failure and neglect in the performance of their duties make their removal necessary."

The power of removing these officers is not vested in the Governor, the law requiring impeachment proceedings to be begun in the House, followed by a trial in the Senate. It is not unlikely that the master will be taken to the courts.

He leaves a widow and five sons, all grown.

DEATHS AND BIRTHS.

Six of Former and Five of the Latter in City Last Month.

There were during the month of February only six deaths recorded at the office of the city Health Officer, as follows:

Paralysis	2
Bright's Disease	1
Tuberculosis	1
Inanition	1
Teeth	1

Two were white and 4 colored.

There were five births in the city; three white and two colored.

DEATH OF MRS. LOCKHART.

Crofton, Ky., March 3.—The wife of Mr. John Lockhart, who resides about two miles south of this place, died Friday of brain trouble. She had been sick for some time and was a great sufferer. She is survived by a husband and several children. NITRAM.

Pension of $10.

18 YEARS

Must Robert Randolph Stay in the Penitentiary.

Appeared as Cool as a Cucumber on Ice When Verdict of the Jury Was Read.

only intended to "scare" Foard and that he had no idea there was a cartridge in the pistol when he pointed it at Foard.

Randolph is about 20 years old, having been raised here. He has long been regarded by his own race as a very bad negro, and his reputation generally is quite unsavory.

When the jailer carried him back to his cell after the jury had returned their verdict, after a short consultation, Randolph appeared perfectly indifferent. In fact during the trial he seemed indifferent, and the nonchalant air with which he would look over the immense crowd he seemed to regard himself as a hero among his race, instead of realizing that he was on trial for the highest crime on the calendar.

Attorney Allensworth, of the defense, conducted the trial in a most excellent manner, and his speech has been freely commented on and pronounced one of the best delivered in the court room in many a year. He was appointed by the court to defend Randolph.

From what we can learn there is no prospect of a petition for a new trial being filed, and we learn that Randolph is to be let to the verdict stand. It is rumored that the Commonwealth's Attorney has, since the trial, been furnished with evidence that would in another trial hang Randolph.

DEADLY DRAFT

Swallowed by Farmer Did Its Work Quickly.

Crofton, Ky., March 3.—George Lantrip, a farmer who lived about six miles West of here, committed suicide Saturday morning by taking carbolic acid.

He arose about 4 o'clock and went out to the stable and fed his stock. He then returned to the house, but remained only a short while, when he went out again. When found he was lying at the wood pile, near the door, face down, in an unconscious condition. His pocket book containing $40 was lying on the ground by his side. An empty ounce vial, which had contained carbolic acid, was also found near by. He died about twenty minutes after being found.

Mr. Lantrip was about 55 years old and leaves a family.

The cause for the act of self destruction is not known. NITRAM.

PRESIDENT QUARLES.

New Asylum Board Met Yesterday For Organization.

The new board of Asylum Commissioners, eight of the nine present, met yesterday afternoon and elected F. M. Quarles chairman.

L. H. Davis was elected treasurer; E. B. Long and J. C. Buckner secretary vice John Feland, who was re-elected by the old board last week.

Mrs. Ida Chappell spent last week with friends in Cadiz.

ABSOLUTELY NO CHANCE.

Conversation Recently Overheard on an English Railway Train.

"Yes," said the voluble one to the quiet-looking man on his right in a second-class carriage on a local line. "I always like to talk with you, because I learn something. You have something to say. You don't sit like a log and let another man do all the talking. You have ideas, and you express them well."

"I flattered myself," began the other, but he was immediately interrupted.

"That's the way it is, you see; I can sit and hear you talk all day, while there are men I wouldn't listen to a minute."

"I was going to say—"

"I told my wife only last night that I could get more solid information by hearing you talk ten minutes than by listening to some men a week."

"May I remark—"

"There's that Smith. I hide myself behind my newspaper whenever I see him enter the same carriage. Decent sort of fellow, too, but he wants to talk the whole time, and there's nothing in what he says. I'm not much of a talker myself, but I do like to get a word in edgewise occasionally."

"If you will allow me—"

"I can't think how you manage to pick up so much information on all kinds of subjects. I don't want to flatter you, but you seem to be well up in almost everything."

"If you would give me a moment—"

"I should talk till all day long if I were as good as you at it. Folks often say to me: 'Jines, why don't you talk? but, bless you! I'm wise enough to keep my mouth shut when I am with people, know a great deal more than I do."

"We talk well one must have—"

"That's just it, you see. One must have a good listener. I am not a good listener for more than anything else, I'm a good listener. I can ride all the way from our station into town listening to you as I am doing now, and hardly open my mouth to say a word. Why? Because I know a good talker when I hear one."

"But you don't—"

"Oh, yes, I do. I understand everything you say on the subject, but, of course, I can't dress my ideas up in such language as you use. You are a natural talker. I am not. You open your mouth and words run out clear as a brook, and I can't help but listen. Ah! here we are at the terminus. See you to-morrow morning."—London Times Bits.

A NOVEL EXPERIMENT.

Delicate Surgical Operation Performed by Means of a Magnet.

Some novel experiments are now being successfully tried in the eye hospital of the Berlin university, says the Cinelinet Gazette, the object being to test the efficacy of the electro-magnet as a curative agent in the cases of persons into whose eyes some foreign objects have intruded themselves. There are many industries in which the workmen are liable to be injured in this way, and there are few metal workers or smiths in Berlin from whose eyes pieces of metal or other objects have not at some time been removed.

Hitherto this has been a most painful operation, and in those cases in which the objects penetrated to a considerable distance within the eyes it did not always prove successful.

Now, however, the important discovery has been made that by the use of an electro-magnet a foreign object can be drawn out of the eye as skillfully as the most expert surgeon could perform such an operation. Moreover, the patient suffers comparatively little while the electro-magnet is doing its work, for the foreign object, unless it has gone far into the eye, is generally drawn out quickly and without leaving any serious wound. If it has penetrated far, a passage must be cut, through which it may be drawn out. Though this is a painful operation, it is not more painful than would be the subsequent work of the surgeon in extracting the object—a work which the electro-magnet now does, and in the doing causing hardly any pain.

The success of the physicians of the Berlin university is attracting considerable attention throughout Europe, and it is predicted by many that in a short time an electro-magnet will become an indispensable portion of every physician's and surgeon's paraphernalia.

RUSSIA'S FORESTS.

Caring for the Freshman in the Czar's Realm.

The gradual deforestation of Russia is beginning to form a question of considerable importance to the imperial government, says the London Standard, and various schemes for curtailing and regulating the consumption of timber are just now under ministerial consideration. Woods in Russia, as it is familiarly called, would not, however, appear as yet to be in imminent danger of destruction, if one may judge from a recently published official report on Russian forests.

According to this authoritative statement, the forests in this country now cover a gross area of 188,000,000 hectares. Among European countries, Sweden comes next with 18,000,000 hectares of forest. In Russia the forests cover 36 per cent. of the whole imperial area. The Swedish forests occupy 44 per cent. of the total area and the Austro-Hungarian 32 per cent. of the territory of the dual monarchy. Reckoned by the population there are two hectares of forest to each inhabitant in Russia, 3.35 in Sweden, 4.22 in Norway and 0.28 per head in Germany.

The forests have, of course, a greater importance for the Russians than for the people of west European countries, owing to the fact that stone-built dwellings are not yet very prevalent in the country. Villages and small towns are still almost entirely constructed of timber, and the forests furnish the main source of fuel supply. It is the private owners who are recklessly exploiting the forests and adequate laws and regulations must be promulgated for regulating this indiscriminate exploitation.

Soup by the Pound.

In China liquids are sold by weight and grain by measure. John buys soup by the pound and grain by the foot. A Chinaman never puts his name outside his shop, but paints instead a motto or a list of his goods on his vertical signboard. Some reassuring remark is frequently added, such as "One word hall," "A child two feet high would not be cheated." Every high article has to be bargained for, and it is usual for the customer to take his own measure and scales with him.

Right Up to Date.

A bronze statue of a woman carrying a parasol is rather unusual among works of art, but such has recently been unveiled to the trade empress of Austria. It is situated in a small national park in Hungary, in which the late empress was fond of hunting.

Dear Sirs—I suffered ten years with severe kidney and bladder trouble and at times was unable to work. I was advised to try your Tex's Wonder after using one of your remedies. I was greatly relieved and I have never suffered since, saving the same three years ago, and I have recommended it to many others who reported themselves cured. I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers from kidney or bladder disease.

MARCH 4, 1902—

ANNOUNCEMENT!

We are authorized to announce

MR. WEED C. BELL,

Of Christian County, for Rainey's

Commissioner in the First Railroad District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Senate party. Elected Nov. 1892.

It is a bold defiance of public sentiment for a Governor to deliberately select the personnel of his administration from the gambling element and attempt to force out of office every good man who enters a word of protest against official corruption. The Kentuckian has endorsed the course of the recent board of commissioners of the Western Asylum, because in the first place they were right; because they were personally, with scarcely an exception, men of Christian character and moral standing; because they represented the law and public decency and were honest, upright men. This community is practically unanimous in its approval of all that the commissioners did. They repeatedly asked the Governor to investigate the scandals that resulted in the quiet dismissal of many of the employees of the asylum, male and female. This was denied, but it did not take Dr.

Ray long to find out that a weeding out was needed. The Governor deliberately protected men in office

after they had confessed to a crime committed in the asylum and had been indicted and punished. In protesting against this encouragement to lawlessness, the commissioners were upheld by the good people of Christian county almost to a man.

The same contempt for the law that has characterized the Governor's tacit approval of gambing and licentiousness in the Western Asylum, is shown in his "order" removing three of the commissioners without authority of law.

The commissioners are not subject to removal and can only be removed by impeachment proceedings begun in the House and concluded in the Senate. This has not been done.

The official order in itself contains a bitter, if not a libelous, attack upon the commissioners.

Messrs. Chas. Knight, R. W. Ware

and J. B. Walker, who are falsely accused of "incompetency and neglect of duty." Here where these officials are known, this display of malice under cover of an executive order, can only serve to still further reduce the number of friends the Governor has in this part of the State.

The Colson bill to make the robing of orchards, gardens and watermelons patches a felony, punishable by confinement in the penitentiary, is a righteous measure that ought to become a law. In some localities it is almost impossible to raise fruit, the depredations upon orchards being so bold that the thieves do not even wait for darkness. The watermelon clause may make it necessary to build a branch penitentiary in every county, but that would be pushed along.

The Southwestern Passenger Association, embracing all railroads south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi, has assured a rate of one cent per mile each way to the reunion of Confederate veterans in Dallas, Texas, in April.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive remedy for all medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and all the surfaces of the system, thereby cleansing the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars as any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testi-

AWFUL FATE.

Swan Around in a Tank of Nitric Acid.

Last Thursday Frank Spencer, a foreman employed by the Grassell Chemical Company, of Hammont, Ind., fell into a giant vat of nitric acid. None of his fellow workers were near the scene of the accident, and Spencer swam around in the liquid for several moments before his cries were heard. When assistance came and he was dragged from the vat his clothes fell from him with pieces of flesh. He suffered intense agony, and though there is not a place where the acid had not eaten into his flesh, he is still alive.

"DOING VALUABLE SERVICE

To Country," Is Gen. Gordon, Says an Exchange.

An editorial in the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, says of Gen. John B. Gordon, who lectures at Holland's Opera House Monday evening, March 10:

We venture the assertion that Gen. Gordon can not in the halls of Congress do his country more valuable service than he is doing, in stirring into the hearts of thousands of people, North and South, a higher appreciation of the gallant men who fought under Grant and Lee, a deeper veneration for American valor and unwavering fidelity, and a warmer love and a loftier pride in this great and reunited country.

Without a taint of disloyalty to the traditions of the South, without a word of offense to the champions of the Northern opinion, he kindles anew the love of every follower of Lee; he deepens the admiration of every Federal survivor for the military genius and magnanimity of Grant; and he awakens in both a loftier patriotism and more consecrated devotion to "this nation," which is the immortal words of Abraham Lincoln, "under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, which shall not perish from the earth."

Mr. Sangster to Stage-Struck Girls.

No vocation is so full of drudgery and so beset with disappointment as is the stage. Many fail utterly, few succeed brilliantly, and mediocrity is ill paid and little esteemed. Except for the occasional girl, the stage is a profession to avoid. As for any general culture a girl may have had, if thorough, it will serve her well elsewhere as in a artistic career.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through the kidneys once every three hours. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste products from the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Failure of kidneys and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or uneasy heat, and makes the heat worse over-working in pump rooms, over-working blood vessels and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary trouble could be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

It is first necessary to doctor your kidneys. The

Lafayette, Ky., March 1.—The

MOB GATHERED,

And "Alabama Jack" Was Taken to Bowling Green.

Isaac Jackson, col., alias "Alabama Jack," was arrested five miles from Guthrie Friday by Marshal Burns of Guthrie and L. N. Special Agent J. Sol Fritz, of this city. He was taken to Russellville but as about 200 people were at the station Judge Crewson, who was also there, would not permit the officers to take him from the train, but ordered him sent to Bowling Green for safe keeping. When he saw such a large number of people on the platform Jackson was very much frightened and begged in a sullen way to be protected. He is charged with being a member of the gang that committed arson and robbery at Adairville a few weeks ago. He claims to have served terms in the penitentiaries of nine different states.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.
The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

Miss Stone Says The Brigands Acted Kindly.

Some Details Of Her Captivity Lasting Over Five Months.

Salonica, Feb. 27.—Miss Stone and her party traveled on horseback from Strumitz to the nearest railroad station, a journey lasting five hours. The local missionaries and many of the inhabitants of Strumitz accompanied the party for some distance, singing hymns. Mme. Tsilka's baby was carried in a blanket by a servant, who dismounted from his horse at the most difficult portions of the mountain road.

At the request of M. Gargullo, the Turkish Governor at Strumitz returned to the women the cloaks and garments with which the brigands had supplied them, and of which the Governor took possession last Sunday. The women intended to keep these garments as mementoes of their adventure.

Miss Stone says she duly returned all letters Mr. House sent her during her captivity. Upon one occasion she sprained her knee by falling through a trap door in a dark room. She was Mme. Tsilka's only attendant at the birth of the latter's baby.

Miss Stone also says the brigands always treated them well. They built a hut for the prisoners on the mountain, provided horses for them when they traveled and carried Mme. Tsilka's baby whenever they were allowed to do so. The brigands never came into contact with the troops, although the party was obliged to halt a few times while, false alarms, Miss Stone's captors made preparation for action.

The brigands especially asked the women to convey their congratulations to M. Gargullo, Mr. Peet and others for the ingenuity displayed in the payment of the ransom.

As the party from Strumitz reached the top of the Chipek Pass, nearing the railroad, the travelers were surprised by the sudden appearance of M. Tsilka, and there was an affecting meeting between husband and wife. M. Tsilka was then presented with his baby.

Tsilka's baby was carried in a blanket by a servant, who dismounted from his horse at the most difficult portions of the mountain road.

At the request of M. Gargullo, the Turkish Governor at Strumitz returned to the women the cloaks and garments with which the brigands had supplied them, and of which the Governor took possession last Sunday. The women intended to keep these garments as mementoes of their adventure.

Miss Stone says she duly returned all letters Mr. House sent her during her captivity. Upon one occasion she sprained her knee by falling through a trap door in a dark room. She was Mme. Tsilka's only attendant at the birth of the latter's baby.

Miss Stone also says the brigands always treated them well. They built a hut for the prisoners on the mountain, provided horses for them when they traveled and carried Mme. Tsilka's baby whenever they were allowed to do so. The brigands never came into contact with the troops, although the party was obliged to halt a few times while, false alarms, Miss Stone's captors made preparation for action.

The brigands especially asked the women to convey their congratulations to M. Gargullo, Mr. Peet and others for the ingenuity displayed in the payment of the ransom.

As the party from Strumitz reached the top of the Chipek Pass, nearing the railroad, the travelers were surprised by the sudden appearance of M. Tsilka, and there was an affecting meeting between husband and wife. M. Tsilka was then presented with his baby.

COLORED MEN

Scuffle Over Pistol and One of Them Killed.
Slayer Held for Manslaughter and Grand Jury Will Investigate at Once.

Adam Coleman shot and instantly killed William Walthrop on the farm of Mr. W. D. Summers, five miles West of the city Saturday night. Both men were colored farm hands. Shortly after supper Coleman got out his pistol and was examining it when Walthrop grabbed the weapon and a scuffle ensued, during which the pistol was discharged. The bullet took effect in the man's heart and he fell dead.

Coleman claims that the killing was purely accidental and he made no effort to escape. Coroner Allenworth went out Sunday and held an inquest. Coleman was held over on a charge of manslaughter and the coroner delivered him up to the jailer Sunday afternoon.

The grand jury will look into the case this week.
